Rotary International

His message expanded on the "Unite for Good" core vision, combining deep personal reflections with a strategic charge for Rotary's future.

1. "Unite for Good" as a Shared Identity

President Arezzo underscored a significant structural shift in Rotary's approach: moving from an individual "presidential theme" that changes every twelve months to a consistent global "Presidential Message."

- The Vision: By speaking with a unified voice under "Unite for Good," Rotary strengthens its global brand and collective impact.
District 7070
- The Call to Action: He noted that unity isn't just about harmony inside club walls, but about aligning diverse cultures, generations, and ideas to actively solve global challenges.

2. Emphasizing Personal Relationships and "Grassroots" Trust

Drawing heavily from his personal life and a 46-year career as an orthodontist working with young people, Arezzo emphasized that true change requires listening and relationship-building.

- Humility in Leadership: He shared his own transformative journey, reminding the audience that when he first joined his club in Ragusa, Sicily, he was so terrified of public speaking due to a stutter that he initially refused leadership roles.
Rotary International
- The Message to Clubs: He urged leaders to create welcoming environments where the quietest voices are listened to, ensuring that new, next-generation members are empowered rather than sidelined by rigid traditional rules.

3. Concrete Humanitarian Commitments

Arezzo used the global stage in Taipei to re-anchor the network's top priorities:

- The Ultimate Finish Line: He rallied the delegation for the final push against polio, highlighting that the global network has achieved a 99.9% reduction in cases and must fulfill its historic promise to the world's children.
- Innovation in Action: Pointing to the 100+ community projects showcased at the Taipei Nangang Exhibition Center (TaiNEX), he championed tech-driven solutions for environment, water, and literacy.

"Rotary's greatest strength lies in its ability to unite people of all cultures and generations through a shared commitment to doing good. Take out your dreams tucked away in a drawer—especially those you thought were too big or bold to achieve. Let's bring them into the light. Let's Unite for Good." – Francesco Arezzo, RI President
